> Hi Rosa, Thanks for your note. Interestingly, there's a group in China that is also working on an SCI translation (and one in Japan, Israel). I'm not sure why this is all happening now. Karma? :-)

Anyway, I just wanted to let you know that I contacted the administrator, Bob Sternberg, at our website, www.controlresearch.net, and showed him a few of your translation sentences. He wanted to make sure he could create a translation that would allow you to have someone take the test on the website in Spanish, and then automatically score the results for you. He said that he's tested it and he can.
